G - D/G - C/G    G - D

Verse 1

          G                   C/G                   G       D/G
To you, oh Lord, my heart cried for mercy
          G                   C                   G                                   D
And beautiful, the day that you heard me, oh how you heard me, oh

          G/B                                   C
You took my tears and you took my pain
          G/B                                   D
And covered them with grace

Chorus

          G                   C                   Em                   D
Your love has called me out, out of my sorrow, out of my broken places
G                                   C                                   Em                                   D
Hope has been renewed, 'cause there in the darkness, there in the darkness

Love broke through

G - D/G - C/G    G - D

Verse 2

          G                   C/G                   G       D/G
And now my heart will sing and not be silent
          G                   C                   G                                   D
For how could I contain the joy that you've given? Oh, how you've given, oh
          G/B                                   C
You took my fears and you took my shame
          G/B                                   D
And gave me a new name
